MOKENA BANK HELD UP

Bold Daylight Robbery by 5 Armed Robbers Nets Over $4,000; Robbers Car Found

The series of petty attempted holdups which have been staged in Mokena the past several weeks, culminated in the hold up of the Mokena State Bank Tuesday afternoon.

It was 1:30 o'clock when 5 armed bandits held up the bank. The bank employees and two customers were lined up with hands up facing the wall while the bank vault was being looted. The customers were not molested other wise.

As near as the bank officials have been able to check up the cash stolen was as follows: paper money $2800, gold $985, nickles and pennies $115, silver $375, making a total of $4,275. One package of paper money hurried open and $200 in bills fell on the floor but the robbers did not take time to pick them up.

The sheriff's office at Joliet is working on the case but but cannot give any information as to their operations.

THOUGHT IT WAS A JOKE

When the bandits entered the bank, George J. Hacker, the cashier was in his office with Albert Braun and Harry Peterson who had just made deposits. Karl E. Krapp, the assistant cashier was seated on a high stool working over a book. One of the robbers leveled a gun thru the bars of the cashier's cage and commanded him to hold up his hands. Mr. Hacker thought someone was playing a joke and laughed at the demand.

OPERATOR ON THE JOB

As the bandit car shot past the Mokena office of the Illinois Bell Telephone office on its wild dash to the Lincoln Highway, Mrs. Hugh Deadmore, the local manager saw a shotgun protruding from the car and immediately ran out doors and found the bank had been held up.

NOTIFIES POLICE

Mrs. Deadmore at once called all the police authorities in the nearby towns and later the sheriff's offices in Joliet and Chicago. Mrs. Deadmore gave excellent service in notifying the authorities mentioned, being the first person to send in these calls.

WITNESSES ROBBERY

Clinton Kraus was sitting in front of the barbershop and saw the entire holdup. He saw the car drive up to the bank and saw the bandits come out of the bank with the loaded gunnysack and enter the waiting car. He ran over to the garage of Cooper & Hostert and told Mr. Hostert what he had seen. Mr. Hostert immediately notified other men and a big squad ran to the bank and took up the trail of the fleeing bandit in high powered cars but found no trace of them.

HOLD MAN AT BAY

Vernon Touzen, said to have been a prohibition agent on duty at the brewery plant raided sometime ago near Frankfort, was standing on the walk in front of the residence of Mrs. Agnes Hirsch in the west end of town and was talking with Mrs. Hirsch when a large touring car drove up and stopped. Five men were in the car. One of the bandits, a tightly buttoned raincoat got out of the car and started out walking up the street toward the bank. As the man passed by Mr. Touzen saw the form of a revolver in the man's hip pocket. The car quickly drove down to the next street and turned the corner at the Kolber corner and drove to the bank. Mr. Touzen told Mrs. Hirsch he thought the man was a bank robber and walked quickly ahead of him in quest of a gun. As he got near the bank one of the bandits on guard with a shot gun covered Mr. Touzen and held him at bay until the job was finished. Mr. Touzen got a good description of the car which was a light brown touring car with a California top and bore Illinois license plate No. 2326. After the robbers had left, Mr. Touzen told what he had seen and the number of the car telephoned to the Cook County authorities and in a short time the Highway Police Department called back that a Westcott car answering the description of the bandits car and bearing the same license number had been stolen in Chicago last Sunday.

FIND STOLEN CAR

Deputy Sheriffs and also Sheriff John Walker of Joliet together with local deputies from Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox scoured all the roads in the surrounding country without getting a trace of the bandits, until Deputy Henry Craven of New Lenox and George Nelson, New Lenox garage man came to Mokena. They observed the form of the tread of the tire of the bandits car imprinted in the dust of the road in front of the bank and started tracing the car. They traced the car to the Spencer school house road where the car made a half turn and headed westward. When the dirt road near the Cleveland farm was reached running south the trace was again taken up and after following the car for a mile and half south the abandoned bandit car was found parked on the right hand side of the road in front of an old abandoned farm house on the farm of Adam Heisner. Deputy Craven and Mr. Nelson searched the car and found two empty pocketbooks, one belonging to Cashier George J. Hacker from which $14 had been taken, while the other one belonged to Karl E. Krapp, the assistant cashier, but it had contained no money when taken. A loaded 45 Colt's automatic revolver believed to have been the one the bandits used at the bank, was also found in the car as also was the empty gunnysack. Deputy Craven thru a nearby phone got in touch with Mokena and told what he had discovered. All the deputies as well as the Cook County highway police who were working on the case together with a large number of other people hurried to the scene where the car was found.

HAD ANOTHER CAR WAITING

From the fresh tire prints in the grass it was found that another car had been held in waiting and the robbers changed cars and headed south, presumably toward Kankakee.

SEARCH ABANDONED HOUSE

When the deputies and other armed men arrived, the road side had the appearance of an army camp. The old abandoned farm house which has not been occupied for 20 years, was searched from basement to garret with the hope that somehow the bandits might be found in hiding or that they might have cached some of their loot there, but no trace was found of either.

POLICE DOGS PUT ON SCENT

Some linemen of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., came over to the scene and hooked up a telephone to the telephone line running on the right hand side of the road and Deputy Walter Fisher of Mokena called the sheriff's office at Joliet and said the car had been found. The sheriff's office then sent out 2 German police dogs. When they arrived they were placed in the car and after getting the scent they headed in the yard of the abandoned farm house and then into an adjoining corn field, but were unsuccessful in their quest.

Sheriff Walker took the stolen car to Joliet.

The robbers had broken the glass in the back of the car and they had poked their shot guns so they could readily fire were they pursued.

One of the telephone men told of seeing a man in a nearby corn field making a hasty move when he saw the men coming, but although the corn fields were searched no trace whatever was found.

BANK INSURED

The Mokena State Bank and none of its patrons lose anything by this brazen daylight robbery as the bank is fully protected by burglar insurance and the insurance companies have got their detectives working on the case. As the automatic gun found in the robbers car was a registered firearm it is thought it may yield a clue as to the robbers identity.

The Mokena Bank is not equipped with any burglar alarm system.

BANK BUSINESS NOT INTERRUPTED

The business of the bank was not interrupted by the robbery. Henry Schlutz, one of the directors came up from Joliet a short time after the robbery with emergency funds so that the bank's business was not interrupted.

BANK VISITED BY ROBBERS 12 YEARS AGO

About 12 years years ago bank robbers broke into the bank one night and attempted to blow the vault open, but the charge only jammed the door of the vault and the robbers fled without getting anything.

Frank Leiss was the cashier at that time.

Motorcycle Crashes Into Automobile

Another case of reckless driving came to grief Sunday morning when a young man riding a motorcycle at the rate of 50 miles an hour crashed into the rear of an Essex coach driven by A. C. Bauch, Frankfort garage man, on the Lincoln Highway near the Paul Christman farm. Mr. Bauch was slowing down to make the turn and had put his hand out as a warning signal, when the motorcycle crashed into the rear of the car.

The driver of the motorcycle was seriously injured and passing motorists took him to Silver Cross Hospital at Joliet. His motorcycle was badly damaged, while the rear tire on Mr. Bauch's car was blown out and the rear fender smashed. No one in Mr. Bauch's car was injured.

Another young man who had been riding with the one who crashed into Mr. Bauch, said that he saw Mr. Bauch give the warning, but thought that his companion must not have seen it, his eyesight being poor. Under these conditions he had no business driving.

Other motorists traveling westward on the highway told Bauch that these same fellows had passed them further up the highway at the rate of 60 miles an hour.

We have no more pity for darned reckless driving, id perhaps it is best they break their fool necks and heads. And that is just what they deserve. The only trouble is that such crazy boobs endanger the lives of sane people. One out of a hundred accidents can be said to be due to uncontrollable circumstances while the other 99 cases are caused entirely by recklessness.

When people will not obey laws, will not listen to reason and indulge in reckless driving, they must in in most cases pay for their foolhardiness with their lives.

HOLDING HARVEST SALE

Walter Fisher, Mokena's enterprising merchant is conducting a harvest sale this week and is offering real harvest bargains. It will pay you to attend this sale.

MOKENA FARMS SALE

NETS $7500 AM. TOLD

The auction held last Thursday on the former Maltby farm north of Mokena was very well attended and good prices were realized all the way thru. The entire sale totaled $7500. A peculiar feature of the sale was that some of the scorched oats brought a bigger price than good oats are selling for. The oats that were scorched in the recent fire were piled up in big piles and sold on an average of about 44c a bushel.

Cook County authorities had been notified the Chicago papers were hot on the trail of the story and the Chicago Tribune sent out a staff photographer who took a picture of the bank, its employees who figured in the robbery and those who had had witnessed the holdup.

SOME EXPERIENCE

The men who faced the bandits guns said it was a thrilling experience, but one they do not wish to go thru again. Mr. Krapp says the bandit's automatic looked like a cannon to him and he expected to hear a shot fired any moment.

A Mr. Malcolm of Joliet who was peddling vegetables and fruit in town also witnessed the holdup and also got the license number of the bandit car.

HERBERT HOHENSTEIN IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Herbert Hohenstein who was hit by an unknown auto driver a week ago while crossing the Front street in Mokena, is in a very critical condition at the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet where he was taken following the accident. His skull was fractured and he has had his head packed in ice since then. He underwent an operation on his spine Thursday morning and fears are entertained as to his recovery. He has been in a comatose state for 36 hours. No trace has been found of the autoist who ran him down.

GREAT CROWDS ATTEND MARLEY MOVIES

The Marley Church was far too small to hold the great crowds which attended the showing of the famous movie, "The Birth Of A Nation," shown last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. The church was so packed that extra props were placed under the floor to assure it from breaking down. The movies shown at this church have been drawing record breaking crowds.

111TH STREET BEING MUCH IMPROVED

Work is well under way on the forty four foot pavement to carry traffic in 111th street from Western Ave. to California Ave., according to announcement made yesterday by Ald. Donald McKinley. Curbing is now being laid and the roadway, including a sixteen foot center strip to be paved by the Chicago Surface lines, is expected to be completed within a month.

Laying Away For the Future

What better proof do we need that a Savings Account is a really vital part of our existence than to watch the squirrel lay away, in the way nature has taught him, the surplus of his efforts, to be used when he cannot longer gather food.

There comes a time into every life when the need of a reserve is felt. Start saving today, then when you need money you will have it.

Introducing Foreign Trees

In order to determine the suitability of foreign trees for introduction into this country, arboretums, in which groups of such "immigrant" species can be tried out, are being established by the United States forest service. At Wind River, 60 miles from Portland, Ore., an arboretum of this sort has now some 75 different alien species growing in small groups or clumps. These trees are carefully watched by members of the Pacific Northwest forest experiment station. Local records of climate and soil conditions are also maintained.

How quickly

that rash disappeared!

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1924

Orland Fire Dept., Working For A Free Siren Next

The Orland Volunteer Fire Department has started a movement for a fire siren whistle for the village, feeling that the town needs a modern fire alarm system which can be heard all over the village in case of fire or other emergency. As the town is growing and spreading out, the old time fire bell is inadequate to give the proper alarm so that it can be heard all over the town.

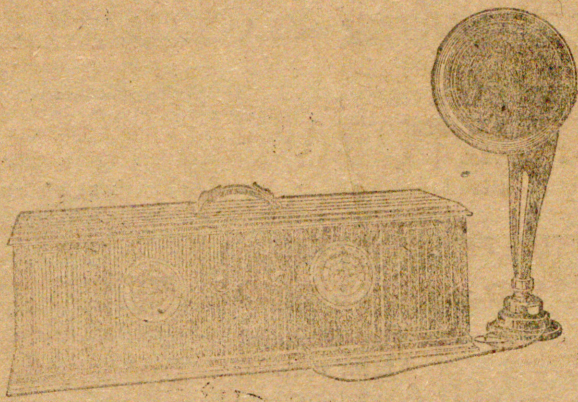

The Volunteer Fire Department has decided to hold a dance at the Raney hall on the evening of Nov. 22 to raise additional money for the fire siren fund which has already been started, the firemen having put in some money out of their own treasury and have also received several donations for this purpose.

The firemen are putting forth their best efforts to make the proposed hop go over big and have engaged an excellent orchestra. It is hoped that the community will back up these public spirited men with their most liberal support.

Last Saturday afternoon about 5:15 o'clock fire broke out in a shed back of Thomas Davidson's feed store. The local fire department made a record breaking run and succeeded in getting the fire out before any serious damage was done. The fire was noticed by John Helenhouse who gave the alarm. While assisting in fighting the fire Mr. Helenhouse met with an accident in which the thumb on his left hand was badly wrenched.

Herman Dewese rushed to the village hall to ring the fire bell and after two taps the rope broke and as there was not time to repair the break there was no way in which to spread the alarm except by telephone and this incident is showing the need of a fire siren so that the proper alarm can be given and especially does this hold good at night when a real and effective fire alarm is of great importance. Orland has made such a fine growth in the past few years and it therefore should have the right kind of fire protection in keeping with its growth.

Idlehart & Co., of Chicago who were recently awarded the contract to install the Orland watermain extensions expect to start work very soon.

When completed the new extensions will give Orland a good water supply and fire protection which will mean a cheaper fire insurance rate it is said.

ORLAND

The bazaar and supper given by the M. E. Church was largely attended. There were candy booths, fancy work rug rugs and a country store and grab bags. Over $400 were taken in.

A number of friends attended the party given by Mrs. Laurence Uthe in honor of her birthday. Bunco featured the afternoon and prizes awarded to those with the highest scores. Mrs. Uthe received many beautiful presents. A fine luncheon was also served.

The Royal Neighbors of Laurel Camp gave a bunco Wednesday evening in the Woodman Hall. Ten tables played and those scoring high were: Charles Burkhardt, Sr., John Bremner, second. Mrs. Frank Powell, first; Mrs. Herman Nicolson, second. Lunch was also served.

Misses Adelle and Lucille Schma-deke spent Sunday at the A. O. Cox home.

Dr. and Mrs. Schussler returned home after spending several weeks at their summer home in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Henry Uthe was removed to the Burnside Hospital last week.

Mr. Edward Cooper is improving his store and residence with a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Lillewitz entertained relatives from Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Stephen Sawyers is putting a foundation and basement under his house. Mr. Sawyers will install a furnace in the near future. Mr. Herman Kruspe is also putting in a basement and furnace.

Residents of Orland were greatly frightened Saturday night when a barn owned by Thomas Davidson, coal and feed dealer, caught fire in some unknown manner. The barn stood about twenty feet from the garage and ice cream parlor and the house was also standing near by. How these buildings were saved from the flames cannot be understood. The Orland Park Volunteer Fire Department was called and the flames were soon extinguished. The barn was used for storing hay and feed, also $300 worth of molasses was in it.

George Knudson, who has been ill for the past week, was taken to the Silver Cross Hospital at Joliet Wednesday morning suffering with an attack of typhoid fever. Dr. W. V. Hedges of Frankfort is the attending physician.

While Tom Homarding was at work in building a sidewalk at the W. H. Beckstein place, he was suddenly seized with a dizzy spell and fell over, landing on his face and cutting and scratching his nose. He got up right away, but felt quite sick so he had to quit work and go home.

W. H. Beckstein is having quite a lot of remodeling work done at his place.

The case of Joe Lorenz against two young Joliet fellows who crashed into his car on the Lincoln Highway recently, came up for hearing in Joliet Saturday and the case was decided in favor of Mr. Lorenz, who was awarded damages against the Joliet fellows. Some moonshine which was found in a straw stack alongside the road near the car, was barred as evidence on the grounds that it could not be proved that it belonged to the Joliet fellows. Mr. Lorenz was represented by Attorney Herbert Polkers and the Joliet men had Attorney John D'Arcy as their counsel.

The Mokena Tennis Club is going to hold a Halloween party at the Mokena school house on the evening of Oct. 31st. A fine program of Halloween stunts has been arranged for.

Mrs. John Creer, a resident of Orland for many years, passed away at the Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Chicago Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, after a serious operation performed the previous Friday. She is survived by her four sons, Archibald, Lenard, Lester and Walter and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Thomlinson of Willow Springs, seven grand children and one brother, Walter Townsend and many other relatives and friends. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the M. E. Church.

Helpful Hints About Electric Service

One way to
light bill—

WHILE the slight increase that your electric light bill may show this month is due principally to the lengthened period of darkness at this season, you can save light by cleaning all the lamps (bulbs) in your house.

Dust and Dirt on lamps, shades and reflectors absorb 40% of the light you pay for.

Clean and polish lamps with a dry cloth. Wash glass shades in soap and water. Clean silk shades with the suction brush attachment on your vacuum cleaner.

Replace all burned out lamps with new ones. The Company furnishes 60-Watt Mazda lamps free for original installation or exchange. Other sizes at reduced prices.

Illinois Voters

GOOD CITIZENS VOTE. Those who neglect to vote are not so good; they shirk their responsibility. As an obligation of citizenship, every man and woman of lawful age should cast a ballot Tuesday, November 4.

Men and women who know American institutions vote for a party, and not for individuals. In America the party governs. For sixty-eight years either the Republican party or the Democratic party has been in power at Washington and at Springfield. Either the Republican party or the Democratic party will be in authority at Washington and at Springfield for the coming four years. Upon the party records, as written into the history of America, the Republican party organization believes voters of Illinois should

Mark a Cross in the Republican Circle

Republican party candidates were chosen by the voters of their party; the party is responsible for their selection; they are responsible to the party as well as to the public.

Calvin Coolidge for President, was the overwhelming choice of the Republican National Convention at Cleveland. For his steadfast adherence to national traditions, his sturdy honesty and executive genius, he has the confidence of the American people.

Charles S. Deneen for United States Senator, was nominated in a direct primary by the Republican voters of Illinois. His record as Governor for eight years and as States Attorney of Cook County for eight years is a part of the history of the state's progress to greatness; his accomplishments in office are the boasts of Illinoisans as citizens.

Len Small for Governor, was renominated by a majority vote of the Republican men and women of Illinois. The building of 4,600 miles of paved road in four years without cost in direct taxes; the reduction of rates to utility patrons of $25,000,000 per year, with improved service; the reduction of the death rate in Illinois from 13.6 to 11.4 per thousand; the reduction of the tax rate from 47.5 cents to 43.3 cents in the $100 are historical accomplishments of his administration.

Taxes will be of utmost importance for the next four years. At Washington, following a Democratic administration, a Republican administration has cut the income-tax $1,380,000,000 per year. At Springfield a—

Democratic administration after four years of an average tax rate of 63.25 cents in the $100, left a balance in the general fund of $528.82

Republican administrations in seven years (including the war period), have had an average tax rate of 53.38 cents in the $100, and on October 1, 1924, there was in the general fund $11,557,729.54

To back Coolidge with Deneen in the Senate and a Republican majority in the House; to back Small with administration officials committed to Republican policies and a Republican Legislature; for lower taxes, more good roads, better and cheaper utility service and efficient administration: Vote. And because the straight ballot is the easy ballot and is always counted,

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE,"
CHICAGO'S BIGGEST HIT,
NOW IN ITS SECOND YEAR

Broadway theatrical successes come and go in Chicago, but "Abie's Irish Rose" goes on and on forever. This most popular of all comedies is now in its second year at the Studebaker theater on Michigan Avenue. Last Tuesday, Oct. 21, the 400th performance was played and already arrangements are under way for a gigantic celebration on the occasion of the 500th mark which will come between Christmas and New Year's, depending on the exact date by the number of extra matinees to be played.

Many special matinees are planned for out of town visitors. These extra performances are scheduled on the afternoon of election day, Nov. 4, Armistice Day, Nov. 11 and Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27.

The $2 top price will remain standard for the remainder of the "Abie" run at the Studebaker, regardless of whether the show lingers for a few months or for a few years. At the regular matinees on Wednesday and Saturday the popular tariff of $1.50 for the entire lower floor and $1 in the balcony continues in force.

A real Dublin Irishman, Harry Garrity, is portraying the role of the Irish father in Chicago and Joseph Greenwald, who spent all of his early life among the Ghetto folk of the lower east side in New York, is assigned the part of the Jewish papa. Stanley Price as "Abie" and Miss Lorna Carroll as "Rosie" are excellent in their respective assignments. Both have youth, magnetism and a thorough understanding of their art. Harry Marks Stewart, a comedian of national reputation, continues in the role of a comic, henpecked, brew husband, that of Isaac Cohen. Mme. Pauline Hoffman, a star of the Yiddish theater, is Mrs. Cohen. Tom Burroughs as the priest and Alfred Clark as the rabbi make up the perfect cast. Four Chicago girls are seen as the bridesmaids.

"MISS DENSLOW."

SYNOPSIS.—Thrown from his auto in a New York village, a man is carried unconscious into the home of a Miss Edith Grant. A doctor discovers he has been shot, fatally. Consciousness returning, he babbles of "millions." He begs that Henry Archman, millionaire resident of the vicinity, be sent for, declaring he has important papers for him. Archman cannot be reached by phone, but word is sent that his secretary is on the way. A man answering himself as Archman's secretary, Akim, arrives, talks with Morbach, and leaves with a package he gives him. Morbach dies. Archman's arrival, with his secretary, reveals that the man posing as Akim is an impostor. Archman denounces Edith Grant as a girl endeavoring to snare his son Harry. Archman, it appears, his millions made in Chicago, has yielded to the importunities of his family—his wife, daughters Nellie and Bessie (seventeen years old), and son Harry—and moved to New York in an endeavor to gain recognition by the Four Hundred. They have not succeeded. Mrs. Archman is bitter over her failure, particularly mourning the fact that she has not been "taken up" by a Mrs. Van Kull. Archman orders Nellie to get ready for a long journey with him. He refuses to reveal their destination to his wife, declaring it is "not his secret." Nellie tells Bess she is in love with James Carr, a youth working on Archman's ship, El Rio. She gives Bess a message for him. Archman and Nellie depart. Harry tells Bess of his determination to marry Edith Grant. Mrs. Archman receives a map, with the explanation that it was among Morbach's papers, and suggesting she forward it to Mr. Archman. Lord George Caruthers, traveling Englishman, arrives at the Archman home, by invitation. He makes a good impression. Bess meets Carr and tells him her sister's message. She learns from him that "Edith Grant" is his sister. He says he loves Nellie. Mrs. Archman takes Bess and Harry and Caruthers and sails with Captain Bunker on the El Rio to meet her husband. A Miss Denslow, engaged as governess for Bess, and Akim, sail with the party. Captain Bunker has sealed orders.

Bess laughed. "It is best that I the tray. "Is there anything more, madam?" he asked.

"Nothing!" Miss Denslow remained silent till the man had gone. Then she turned to Lord George. "Then I may count on your silence for the present?" she asked.

Lord George nodded slowly. "Yes," he said.

CHAPTER VIII

Without Lights.

The morning of the fifth day saw the El Rio approaching latitude 19, longitude 64, the spot at which Captain Bunker was to open the envelope inclosing his instructions and was presumably, to ascertain the exact place where he was to find Mr. Archman. Naturally, all on board were agog to learn what the envelope contained. Bess was especially and admittedly excited.

A little before noon she had a surprise. She had torn herself reluctantly away from the deck and had gone below to get one of her lesson books. She found the book, but she also found, lying on top of it, a folded paper addressed to herself in a handwriting that she did not recognize. It ran as follows:

"Warn Captain Bunker to keep special watch over his instructions. An effort is likely to be made to find them out in advance, probably today."

The note bore no signature. Bess read the words again. Then she sat down and stared at the paper. Was it a hoax? she asked herself. Why should any one want to learn the contents of the instructions in advance of their formal opening? Who could want to do such a thing?

"Warn Captain Bunker," said the note. But should she do it? Would she not make herself ridiculous by doing it? Would the writer be watching to laugh at her? Such a note seemed like Harry's idea of fun.

After a while she decided to go on deck and see if she could find any clew in the expressions of her fellow passengers. As she passed Harry's stateroom the sound of a man's and a woman's voice within it, engaged in earnest though low-pitched discussion, came to her ears. She paid little at-You'll let Lord George and me open the instructions, won't you?" Bess glanced at the Englishman as she spoke.

Captain Bunker shook his head. "Can't do that, Miss Bess," he declared. "I'll have to do it myself, and I'll have to seek the seclusion that my cabin grants before I do it."

Bess turned to the Englishman. "You hear, Lord George?" she exclaimed. "He wants to keep all the mystery to himself."

Lord George nodded comfortably. "He jolly well better had keep it to himself," he declared. "Mr. Archman would court-martial him if he didn't. What!"

Bess drew a long breath. Clearly, she decided, Lord George was not especially interested in the instructions. "Well, I call it mean," she said. "Be ware, captain, or when you come to open your instructions you'll find I've got ahead of you and read them first."

"Not you, miss—unless you wheedle the combination of my safe out of me," laughed the captain, as he vanished into the chart house.

Bess said nothing more. She had warned the captain in a way, without betraying the fact that she had received the note, which she more than ever believed was a hoax. A little later, when Captain Bunker announced that he would open the envelope at five o'clock that afternoon, she decided that nobody could possibly manage to steal the instructions out of a locked safe in less than four hours, and that, therefore, she would say nothing.

The tasks of the day had been finished and, the weather being good, there was little for the crew—except those in the engine room—to do. Of all on board, only Lord George was busy; he had borrowed a light rifle from Captain Bunker and was amusing himself by shooting at floating objects.

Eight bells struck. Bess sat up in her stateroom chair, throwing back the light rug that covered her feet, and looked about her. As she did so, Lord George raised his rifle and fired at something directly at her. Bess rose and stared curiously across the taffrail.

"Geel! That looks exciting," she remarked casually.

Lord George looked up at her. "It's jolly good practice, you know," he said. "It's the shooting season at home now, and everybody there is popping away. It's lots of fun, it is really. Excuse me." He turned and sent a bullet at a shark's triangular fin that cut the water off the starboard quarter. The fin disappeared and he turned back to Bess. "I'm not much of a shot," he explained. "The best bag I ever made was sixty brace."

"Sixty brace! One hundred and twenty!"

Lord George did not answer. He swung his rifle up. Bess had just time to see that he was aiming at something that looked like a bottle with a small flag stuck into its neck, when the piece exploded and the bottle disappeared. "Good gracious!" she exclaimed. "Where did that bottle come from?"

"Bottle?" Lord George looked surprised. "Where is it?"

"It's at the bottom of the sea, now," exclaimed Bess. "You blew it to pieces. Didn't you know what you were aiming at?"

Lord George's expression of surprise was obvious. "Really, now, really, Miss Bess," he mumbled, "are you sure it was a bottle?"

"Of course, I'm sure. I've got eyes, haven't I? It looked like a message, too. It had a flag in it. Maybe it was a message from some poor shipwrecked mariner. And you've destroyed it. Good Lord!"

Lord George had fired again, and at another bottle, which flew in fragments like the first.

Bess stared at the water. Then she stared at Lord George. But that gentleman kept his eye fixed on the water, either failing or refusing to meet her eyes. "Oh!" she breathed significantly.

The rudder chains leading along the rail began to rattle, and the wake of the El Rio began to change its direction. The sun, which had been on the girl's left, shifted behind her. For a moment Bess did not understand; then she realized that the El Rio had changed its course from south to west.

Now, why was Lord George breaking those bottles? and what will the captain's sealed orders say?

Our Wills

Our wills are queer things. They are like plaster of paris; for after they have been melted into liquid form they tend to "set." They do thus preserve the contour of that about which they have been molded. If it is a good cast, well enough; we make a cast for a permanent possession. Here it is—fixed and final! Is the lethargy of a standard pattern, no matter how excellent it may have been at one time, to prevent any future change and growth?—The Living Church.

GUN ELEVATION
URGED BY WILBURWants U. S. Fighters Put on Equal Basis With Those of Britain.

Washington.—In a radio address for Navy day, Secretary Wilbur declared that naval strength must be measured by "the blow a ship's guns can deliver at long range." He asserted that the gun elevating machinery on American battleships should be improved to permit all main batteries to reach an average maximum elevation.

"Subject to the construction of the treaty for the limitation of armaments, we are asking congress to authorize the necessary changes to permit this elevation," the secretary said, "so that our fleet may have a maximum efficiency at long range. We anticipate that future naval wars will be fought in great fleet actions where a nation will stake everything upon the issue of a single battle."

"The Navy department recently reported to congress that our navy as a whole was only 80 per cent as powerful as that of Great Britain," he said. "This ratio was faulty, due to the fact that four of our battleships needed boiler repairs. Three of these have since been repaired."

"We are going ahead with our navy plans. If we and the other powers conform to the agreed ratio, not only in battleships, but also in other surface and subsurface and aircraft, successful aggressive warfare between the signatory powers across the oceans which border our shores will be an impossibility."

U. S. Marines to Peking;
Dictator Assassinated?

Tientsin, China.—One hundred American marines were landed from the American cruiser Huron at Taku and left immediately for Peking. Rumors of developments at the capital are circulating everywhere, but reliable news cannot be obtained. One persistent report said Shensi province troops were looting Tungchow.

Mrs. Mary Shank, who admitted applying the tar and feathers to Miss Grandon's body, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. Mrs. Shank charged that the "white-capping" was the result of too intimate relations between her husband and Miss Grandon.

Chicago.—Albert Henry Loeb, first vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., died at his home, 5017 Ellis avenue, aged fifty-six. He had been seriously ill for two years and a mysterious heart disease developed, originally diagnosed as angina pectoris. His death, members of the family and his physicians asserted, was in no sense caused and indeed was not hastened by the trial and conviction of his third son, Richard Loeb, now serving a life sentence in Joliet penitentiary, for the murder of Robert Franks.

This is a name given to a strong, warm wind and dry south or west wind descending the eastern slopes of the Rocky mountains into Montana and Wyoming, evaporating or melting the snow and bringing great relief in cold weather. The name was probably given it because it blew from the territory occupied by the Chinook Indians.

Unprecedented Drought

All records for drought were broken in western Washington, the area between the Cascade mountains and the Pacific ocean, in the weather year ending September 1. This region generally is associated with heavy rainfall, but in the last year only 22.79 inches of rain were measured by the weather bureau. Records dating from 1884 make the average annual moisture 40.79. The banner year for rain was 1897, when the fall was 52.76.

Old-timers commonly assert that the rainfall is diminishing as the forests that once covered western Washington are being cut away.

Bales of Locusts

Eighty-eight bales of locusts, weighing 18 tons, were forwarded recently from South Africa to Holland, where they will be used chiefly for feeding live stock and poultry, although a small proportion will yield oil to be used in airplane engines. The oil is said to possess special properties and to retain its liquidity at a very high altitude.

Wave Catches Crowd

Hundreds of persons at Southsea beach, England, were thoroughly drenched when a huge wave produced by the passing of two big transatlantic liners swept upon the shore. The Berengaria and the Majestic were passing each other off the Isle of Wight and the wash set up by their combined motion rolled like a tidal wave on the lower end of the beach.

Mending an Umbrella

Broken joints between the braces and ribs of an umbrella can be repaired with friction tape, says Popular Science Monthly. Simply put the end of the brace where it belongs and wind tightly with the tape in such a way that the action of the joint will not be interfered with. The umbrella then can be opened and closed without difficulty and the repair will be found to last surprisingly well.

WORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gaudett, Miss M. Gaudett, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kauffman, Jr., Misses Mae and Lillian Kauffman, hiked from Chicago to Swallow Cliff, Sunday, Oct. 19th in their knickers. They spent the afternoon in the forest preserve enjoying the sights, roasting winnies and marshmallows. In the evening they called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kauffman, Sr., where they were joined by Joe Zimmerman, wife and daughter Cecilia, Mrs. Zimmerman's mother, Mrs. Wachter, also of Chicago.

Mr. Zimmerman rendered several fine selections on the violin and was accompanied by his wife, who is a very fine pianist.

All enjoyed the day and evening and unanimously pronounced Worth a very beautiful and progressive village. They returned by the last bus at the end of a perfect day.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sager on October 22nd a bouncing boy. All doing fine excepting Ralph and he is stepping so high that he misses our sidewalks.

Cold weather is bringing in the card parties again. Mrs. Little entertained Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. L. Biedenkopf, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rolfe and Mrs. Stromberg on Wednesday evening. A fine time was had and plenty of good things to eat.

Sidewalks were completed on Harlem avenue in front of Mr. L. Daniel's home and he also had a few private walks laid to add more beauty and convenience to his home.

Mr. C. G. Rust has partly constructed walks in front of his place of business.

Miss Minnie Pound is visiting for a few weeks with her uncle, Mr. Stades.

A new cement sidewalk was laid this week in front of the M. E. church and also Mr. Wm. Palmer's residence.

The Junior Church of the M. E. church had its election of officers last Sunday evening and the following were elected:

President, Ethel Stewart, Secy. Ruth Mitchell, Treas. Paul Stewart, Dramatics: H. Crandall, E. Lysen and G. Crandall. Music: Ed. Rolfe and Magene Crandall. Movie: Tom Little and Ken. Lucas. Publicity: Bruce Lucas and Margaret.
